Conflict Minerals Statement

Dear customers,

We are currently receiving an increasing number of inquiries regarding the use of conflict minerals in connection with the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (Wall Street Reform Act) enacted in July 2010. This reform imposes documentation and disclosure requirements on companies using certain materials to ensure that no conflict minerals are used in their products.

With this letter we would like to inform you as a customer of Senseca Germany GmbH that in our products we exclusively use electronic parts and components from well-known manufacturers and long-standing, trusted distributors. However, as a manufacturer of end devices, we have no influence on the origin of minerals used by our suppliers. Therefore, we cannot assume any guarantee in this regard. We are committed to the traceability and transparency of our suppliers' products, and many manufacturers and distributors provide information on material quality and origin on their websites.

We have obtained relevant information from our suppliers and, to our current knowledge, no conflict minerals are used by our suppliers.

We ourselves do not directly import minerals or so-called "conflict minerals" and thus, to our current knowledge, no conflict minerals are used in our products.

Please understand that we are unable to fill out special questionnaires due to the very high increase in the number of inquiries.

However, we hope that this letter contains the information you requested and thank you for your trust and good cooperation.
